We are also authorised to offer our clients investment advice. Investment advice means the provision of personal recommendations, either at the request of a client or at the initiative of WUIB, in respect of one or more transactions relating to financial instruments.

What this means is that we are able to provide you with advice as to your hedging strategy and can recommend specific products and/or hedging strategies to you.

Please note, however, that this advice is not independent. The advice we provide is limited to our assessment of the suitability of the products offered by WUIB of the products offered by WUIB in meeting the hedging objectives you describe to us. It does not take into account other products that may be available on the market that may or may not be more suitable for your needs, nor do we offer advice on topics outside of mitigating your currency risk. We also do not provide periodic statements on the suitability of the financial instruments that are recommended to you. If you require these services, we recommend that you seek independent advice accordingly.

6. WUIB's Order Execution Policy

6.1 Introduction

- 6.1.1 In accordance with applicable laws, when executing client orders, WUIB is required to act honestly, fairly and professionally in the best interests of its clients.
- 6.1.2 WUIB's order execution policy (hereinafter the "policy") has been developed in order to establish the best possible results when executing client orders and gives an overview of order processing processes and order execution process.
- 6.1.3 The principles contained in the policy derive from the Markets in Financial Instruments Directive 2014/65 / EU and related regulations.

6.2 Scope and general provisions

- 6.2.1 This policy applies to all business relationships between the client and WUIB with respect to foreign exchange forward and options contracts and future payment transactions that WUIB provides to its customers.
- 6.2.2 This policy is reviewed annually and monitored regularly to determine whether the orders WUIB receives from its customers are being executed in accordance with this policy.

- 6.2.3 If WUIB makes any changes to this policy, it will notify its customers by e-mail. Any changes to this policy will not apply to transactions initiated prior to the change date.
- 6.2.4 A customer may object to policy changes within two months of notification of changes. The customer may inform WUIB in writing, by e-mail or by telephone to the usual contacts of the customer (see section 12 for WUIB contact details). If no objection is received from the customer within two months of notification of changes, the changes will be deemed to have been accepted by the customer.

6.3 Access channels

- 6.3.1 Customers can place orders for foreign exchange derivative contracts by phone or email. Negotiation by telephone or e-mail is available during WUIB's normal business hours. Please note that all telephone conversations are recorded.
- 6.3.2 In addition, the WUB online trading platform is available to customers (who have signed the necessary documentation) to place orders on forward exchange contracts.
- 6.3.3 Transactions concluded via the WUIB online platform are processed on the same business day of the request. Other transactions are processed on the same business day of the request if WUIB receives the request by 5 pm on a business day.
- 6.3.4 For each order placed, the customer will receive a written confirmation ("Customer confirmation") of the transaction and a unique customer confirmation number.

6.4 Requirements for participation in foreign exchange derivatives trading

- 6.4.1 Trading in foreign exchange derivative contracts is limited to the client's business activities. Trading for purely speculative purposes is not permitted.
- 6.4.2 Because the trading of foreign exchange derivative contracts involves special risks, WUIB assesses its clients when entering into a business relationship in order to determine whether and to what extent the trading of foreign exchange derivative contracts is appropriate for such clients.
- 6.4.3 Each Client must complete a client profile document confirming such Client's knowledge and experience and thus the Client's risk level.

6.5 Execution criteria

- 6.5.1 WUIB takes into account the execution criteria of the following orders in order to obtain the best possible result:
- Price
 - Speed and likelihood of execution

- 6.5.2 In most cases, the price will be the most important factor of execution. The best possible result will be determined by the price of the foreign exchange derivative and the costs of execution (including any costs incurred by the customer that are directly related to the execution). Due to the uniqueness of the products offered by WUIB, there are no comparable prices on publicly available trading platforms. However, it should be possible for a customer to obtain comparative information from other suppliers in the market offering similar products.
- 6.5.3 In certain circumstances, however, WUIB may consider other factors and criteria to the extent that they seem relevant to the execution of orders if it is in the best interest of the client.
- 6.5.4 Western Union has established relationships with a number of leading market counterparties. The size and global reach of Western Union means we have considerable weight with these institutions, which allows WUIB to secure competitive pricing for its products.
- 6.5.5 Transactions on financial instruments with WUIB are made over the counter ("OTC" or "over the counter") which imply a unique contractual relationship adapted to the customer's situation. As such, all orders placed with WUIB will be executed outside a regulated market or a multilateral trading facility.
- 6.5.6 All prices and rates quoted by WUIB are exclusive WUIB prices and rates.

6.6 Execution venues

- 6.6.1 All orders in FX Derivatives will be executed by WUIB dealing as principal.
- 6.6.2 WUIB does not execute any Client Orders on a regulated market or multilateral trading system.
- 6.6.3 Transactions will be entered into by WUIB subject to market conditions.

6.7 Specific instruction

- 6.7.1 If the client gives WUIB a specific instruction in relation to the execution of an order which WUIB accepts, WUIB will use reasonable efforts to execute the Client Order in accordance with the client's instruction. Where the client's instruction relates to a part of the order, WUIB will apply the policy to the remainder of the order.
- 6.7.2 A client instruction to carry out an order that deviates from this policy will prevent WUIB, with regard to the elements covered by such client instruction, from taking the measures laid down and implemented in this policy to achieve the best possible result for the client in the execution of the order.

6.8 Cancellation and correction of orders

- 6.8.1 All declarations of the client to WUIB are made as soon as the client has submitted these statements to WUIB. Cancellations of or changes to these declarations are not possible. WUIB will take into account later changes only insofar as is technically possible with reasonable effort. Any additional expenses and fees incurred as a consequence of such changes are charged to the client.
- 6.8.2 WUIB will do everything possible to rectify any error that may occur, but it cannot be held liable for any harm or loss caused by errors or inaccuracies contained in a client's instruction.
- 6.8.3 WUIB may correct or cancel an FX Derivative contract in case of non-compliance with WUIB's Terms and Conditions or any other agreement between WUIB and the Client. If the cancellation price deviates from the original contract price then the cost or benefit will be paid and the contract will be cancelled. Any additional expenses and fees will be charged to the client - please see our Fee Schedule for more information.
- 6.8.4 WUIB will inform clients in case of market disturbances. If, in the case of a market disturbance, WUIB is not able or not willing to present actual quotes, Clients will not be permitted to enter into any new FX Derivative.

6.9 Monitoring and amendments

- 6.9.1 WUIB will monitor the quality of its execution arrangements regularly, promptly making any changes where a need is identified. WUIB will, in any event, review these arrangements periodically, to ensure reasonable efforts to deliver the best possible result to its Clients.
- 6.9.2 Upon a request from a client, WUIB will demonstrate to the client how it has complied with this policy.
- 6.9.3 This policy will be reissued where there is a material change to the arrangements described above.

7. How do we categorise our clients?

The Markets in Financial Instruments Directive 2014/65/EU (MiFID) defines the following three categories of customers:

- Non-professional client
- Professional client
- Eligible counterparty

WUIB customers are categorized as non-professional or business customers. Non-professional clients are entitled to the highest level of transparency and protection under the MiFID regulations. Professional clients may be afforded lower levels of transparency and protection because they are expected to have the experience, knowledge and expertise to make their own investment decisions and to properly assess the risks they face. In certain circumstances, and subject to certain conditions, WUIB offers its customers the possibility of to change their client classification.

8. How are we remunerated for the Financial Services which we provide to you?

Forwards

When buying a forward contract from Western Union, we offer you an exchange rate that you are able to lock in for a future date. This rate will be less favourable than the wholesale or "interbank" exchange rate that we are able to access through our counterparties and the difference between the two rates minus costs is our profit or margin.

For example, if the interbank spot rate is trading at $1,1834 and you are applying for a $100.000 forward contract buying dollars for delivery in 3 months, the forward adjustment (due to the current and expected interest rate differentials between the currency you sell and the currency you buy and which is determined by the counterparty bank) accounts for 34 pips (1 pip = $0,0001). This means that we are getting a net wholesale rate of $1,1800, but the forward rate we are offering you could be $1,1760. That means you pay us $100.000 to buy $117.600; however, at a rate of $ 1,1800, we pay our counterparty $99.771 to purchase this amount in USD. We therefore generated an income of $229 or 0,23%. Costs will then have to be deducted from this amount to arrive at our profit margin.

The rate we offer depends on a number of factors, including: the value of the transaction and the currency involved, transaction costs such as the cost of credit, the likelihood of increases or decreases in the relevant exchange rates and the differing interest rates applicable to the currency pair involved in the transaction.

The exchange rates quoted in the media generally reflect the wholesale exchange rates which we will obtain from the interbank foreign exchange market - the rates that are available for free online are often not live rates and do not take into account costs of transacting, such as a credit charge or operating costs. Our access to more favourable exchange rates results from our comparative size, market access and the large volumes of foreign currency transactions we deal in.

The mechanism by which we generate revenue from option contracts is a little different.

Vanilla Options

If you buy a vanilla option, you will pay an initial premium, expressed as a percentage of the amount of currency you want to trade. Thus, a premium of 1,2% on a vanilla option that gives you the right to sell €100.000 and buy USD at $1,1800 (i.e. Euro Put) will be € 1,180. In this case, we do not adjust the Protection Rate that the option provides you in the same way that Western Union adjusted the forward exchange rate as specified in the example above. We are buying a vanilla option at $1,1800 and selling you the same option. Instead, the premium we charge you will be slightly higher than the premium we are charged by our counterparty. For example, we pay 1% of the notional amount (€1.000) but charge you 1,2% of the notional amount (€1.200), which generates an income for us of 0,2% (€200). As with forwards, associated costs will then have to be deducted from this amount to arrive at our profit margin.

"Zero premium" options

With zero premium options, we do not make any adjustments to option premiums. Instead, our revenue comes from a difference between the premium paid for the option purchased and the premium received for the option sold.

Using a Participator as an example, where you have a 100% protection and generally a 50% obligation to trade at the Protection Rate, you may buy the same Euro Put described above in relation to vanilla options giving you the right to sell EUR 100.000 and buy USD at $1,1800 should the EUR/USD rate be lower than 1,180 on expiry.

As above, this costs 1% of the notional amount (1% of €100.000) - therefore € 1.000 – from our counterparty. You simultaneously sell a Euro Call – obligating you to sell EUR 50.000 and buy USD at 1,1800 should the rate be higher at expiry. We offer you this structure at zero cost or zero premium; however, when we sell this EUR Call to our counterparty bank, we may receive from them a premium of 2,4% of the notional amount for the EUR Call – i.e. €1.200 (€50.000 x 2,4%). So we sold you the structure for the zero premium, but we received a net amount of € 200 (€1,200 received against €1,000 paid) which, after deducting expenses, is our income.

International Funds Transfers - Transaction Costs

If you use our international money transfer services, a transaction fee will apply. These transaction fees vary depending on the amount and type of foreign currency transferred, the number and frequency of transfers you make through us and the country to which the funds are sent. Please refer to your Fee Schedule for further details.

9. Is WUIB member of a Guarantee Scheme?

As credit institution, WUIB is member of the deposit guarantee scheme “Einlagensicherung der Banken & Bankiers Gesellschaft m. b. H” with the address Börsegasse 11, 1010 Wien, which is in charge of investor compensation as well. More information on the organisation of the Austrian deposit protection and investor compensation scheme can be found at: <http://www.einlagensicherung.at/>.

10. How do we prevent conflicts of interest?

WUIB conducts its business according to the principle that it must manage and control conflicts of interest fairly: (i) between itself and its clients, (ii) between its employees and its clients and (iii) between one client and another. Our policy is to take all reasonable steps to maintain and operate effective organisational and administrative arrangements to identify and manage relevant conflicts. The senior management of WUIB is responsible for ensuring that our systems, controls and procedures are adequate to identify and manage Conflicts of Interest. Our Compliance and Legal Departments assist in the identification and monitoring of actual and potential Conflicts of Interest. WUIB has in place business-specific procedures that address the identification and management of actual and potential Conflicts of Interest that may arise in the course of the conducting business.

Considering the business activities related to the product portfolio of WUIB, Conflicts of Interest may arise in situations that include:

- trading on own account;
- provision of advisory services to clients;
- personal account dealing of our employees.

Should a Conflict of Interest arise, it must be managed and controlled promptly and fairly. As a minimum standard WUIB has in place arrangements designed to ensure that:

- there are effective procedures in place to control the flow of information where, otherwise, the risk of a Conflict of Interest may harm the interests of a client;
- supervisory arrangements provide for separate supervision of staff where necessary for the fair treatment of the clients;
- there are appropriate controls in place to identify and to manage outside business interests of WUIB employees and management;
- relevant information is recorded promptly in a secure environment to enable identification and management of Conflict of Interest – The Conflicts of Interests Register;
- appropriate disclosure is made to the client in a clear, fair and not misleading manner to enable the client to make an informed decision;
- appropriate inter- and intra-divisional escalation processes are in place and complied with where a Conflict of Interest has been identified or may be identified;
- adequate records are maintained of the services and activities of WUIB, where a Conflict of Interest has been identified;
- where necessary, WUIB employees or managers may be asked to step aside from working on a specific transaction or participating in the management of a potential Conflict of Interest;
- WUIB employees or managers are subject to personal account transaction rules; and

- a periodic review of adequacy of the WUIB's systems and controls in order to manage conflict of interest is in place.

In exceptional circumstances if some Conflict of Interest remains and, where permissible by local regulations, WUIB will disclose it to affected clients. Disclosure is made of the general nature and/or sources of conflict to enable the client to make an informed decision, whereby the bank secrecy as well as personal data protection requirements are taken into account. In such a case, we may resign any evaluation, advice or recommendation concerning the relevant financial instrument. At the client's request, we will provide further details for the resolution of any such conflicts of interest on a durable medium.

Inducements

In a very limited number of cases WUIB has entered into agreements with third party referral partners pursuant to which WUIB would pay fees or commissions in relation to the provision of services to our clients.

If WUIB enters into such an arrangement with a third party, the following notifications will be made to the client:

- Prior to the provision of the first investment service, the amount of the corresponding inducement, or if not known, the method to calculate it;
- After the provision of the investment service, the precise amount of the inducement paid or received; and
- At least annually, the total amount of inducements paid or received.

Employee remuneration

Our employees do not receive specific payments or commissions for providing you with financial product advice. Our employees may broadly be divided into two specific categories: branch staff and dealer/sales representatives. Our branch staff includes directors, managers, administration personnel. Our branch staff are remunerated primarily by base salary. We also provide a company bonus and revenue sharing plan to branch staff, which is payable when predetermined budget targets are achieved for each branch.

Our dealer/sales representatives are also remunerated primarily by a salary. Individual dealer/sales representatives may also be paid variable compensation based upon performance against annual objectives which include compliance adherence, customer outcomes as well as annually set revenue targets.

Copies of our Conflict of Interest Policy are available upon request.
